4. Modern Slavery Statement 2025

Group H2O AM is committed to ensuring that there is no modern slavery or human trafficking in our supply chains or in any part of our business. We act ethically and with integrity in all our business relationships and undertake appropriate due diligence which supports the identification and subsequent mitigation of the risk of slavery and human trafficking occurring.

This statement is made pursuant to section 54(1) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and constitutes our company’s slavery and human trafficking statement for the financial year ended 31st December 2023.

Group H2O AM has 63 employees as of 31 December 2025 located in 5 offices worldwide. We also work directly with approximately 160 suppliers who provide us with goods and services. Most of our spending is with suppliers of fully managed outsourced services, IT, financial services, and goods and services related to management of our premises. The financial services industry is not within a high-risk sector for modern slavery; however, we are not complacent and recognise the possibility of modern slavery issues existing somewhere in our supply chain.

4.1 BUSINESS PRACTICE

Regarding or financing and investing activities, H2O AM currently considers environmental, social and governance (ESG) criteria in its investment process through the integration of exclusionary screening. Indeed, H2O AM has an Exclusions Policy in place, which excludes the following sectors and activities : controversial weapons, tobacco and adult entertainment. .

H2O AM remains committed to develop further the ESG analysis of its investments, as well as enhancing its policies and procedures. The approach described above may therefore evolve in due course.

H2O AM can incorporate exclusion lists into dedicated client portfolios at the request of those clients, and at present H2O AM already runs exclusion lists for a number of the segregated mandates and ICAV funds. Furthermore, sustainability risks are considered through systematic exclusions based on applicable regulations, sectors and countries subject to international sanctions and, in the case of mandates, on specific client requests.

H2O AM imposes additional scrutiny and approval from Compliance for any investments linked to issuers based in countries identified as "high risk" from an AML/CFT perspective. This includes, but is not limited to, countries identified by the Financial Action Task Force (FATF) as having strategic deficiencies in their anti-money laundering and combating the financing of terrorism, the EU lists of high-risk countries and non-cooperative jurisdictions for tax purposes, etc.). This approach is consistent with the risk-based approach defined in the EU AML Directive.

H2O AM also excludes all actors involved in the production, use, stockpiling, production and transfer of anti-personnel mines and cluster munitions, in line with the Oslo and Ottawa Conventions.

Both Risk and Compliance departments oversee complying with regulatory requirements regarding ESG principles for the management of its UCITS funds and their mention in the annual reports of the funds validated by the external auditors, where necessary.

In addition, we do undertake vetting of our suppliers in so far as this is possible, and we continue to monitor our supplier relationships throughout the life of any contract.

We will not knowingly support any supplier involved in modern slavery. We expect transparency and will work with our business partners to support them in driving positive change where reasonably possible. If we did become aware of any modern slavery issues within any of our supply chains, this would be escalated to senior management and appropriate action taken depending on the circumstances – from engaging with a supplier, to terminating the relationship.

4.2 CODE OF CONDUCT

Our Code of Conduct confirms our commitment to respecting human rights in the conduct of our operations.

4.3 WHISTLEBLOWING

If our employees identify any issues relating to modern slavery, we encourage them to report this to their manager. If they feel uncomfortable reporting in this way, we have a confidential whistleblowing arrangement in place. We commit to supporting any individual who raises concerns and that there will be no detriment to them. In 2025 we received no calls or correspondence relating to modern slavery.

4.4 STAFF TRAINING

To raise awareness amongst our employees, our compliance training programme includes our commitment to respecting human rights, and information regarding the whistleblowing processes available. This is mandatory training.

4.5 APPROVAL
